

ARTISTIC CURRICULUM

CRISTINA SCHIRIPA

Born in Milan (Italy) in 1993, at the age of 5 she began to study violin at the Conservatory “G. Verdi” of Milan and later at the Conservatory “C. Pollini” of Padua where she graduated in 2011 under the mentorship of Giovanni Angeleri.

She continued her studies in New York City with Shmuel Ashkenasi and in Rome with Carlo Maria Parazzoli.

Since 2009 she has performed in duo with piano, in chamber ensembles and as soloist with orchestra.

She also collaborated as concertmaster with some Italian orchestras, including the Estro Armonico String Orchestra and the Orchestra delle Venezie.

She has performed in several concert halls around the world such as the Steinway Concert Hall and the Merkin Hall in New York City, the Braun Music Center at the prestigious Stanford University, and in major concert halls in Italy and Europe.

She made her debut at the Carnegie Hall in 2017.

She is an award-winning violinist, in fact she has earned recognition in many international competitions including the Grand Prize Virtuoso of London in 2016, the Golden States Music Awards of New York in 2017, the United States International Music Competition of Stanford in 2018, and the International Mozart Competition of Wien in 2023.

In 2023 she joined the roster of artists at the Price Attraction Agency in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and in 2024 she became an artist at the Kenneth Carol Agency in Atlanta.

Her repertoire ranges from the Baroque to the early 20th century.
